Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Mme; Veitch-Simonds Drapery System Chart The cutting and making of garments for gentlemen have for many years been regulated by exact systems and mathematical laws, the smallest detail being cut by measure, while the same work for ladies has almost entirely been done by guess work, a system of cutting only being used for the waist or body part, based on the idea that there was no need of actual measurement for the draping or skirt part; hence the reason that two dressmakers, or those who call themselves dressmakers, could both copy from one fashion plate with entirely different results, possibly neither effect being like the artistic design they had used for a copy. The artist, in designing, studies the effect, and every part is measured correctly, as each part bears relation with the other; and when perfectly constructed makes one harmonious whole, while, by changing one dimension, the whole is thrown out of balance, hence, poor results must follow. Why Dressmaking So Often Proves a Failure. This system of cutting is as much superior to the patterns as the work of the artistic tailor is to the ready-made clothing. A dress well made means something more than fine sewing and elaborate trimming. No dress, however well the waist is cut and fitted, can give perfect satisfaction unless the work is based on a correct system of designing; herein lies the secret of success. In introducing this system of draping and designing, the author claims that it meets every demand for simplicity, accuracy, economy of time, material and ease of comprehension, is adapted to every part of dressmaking and is unaffected by any change of...
